Our Blog:

We started this blog as a hobby but it's turned into so much more. It has become a source of information and motivation for people around the globe who want to trade their current lifestyle for a new one here in Mexico. We've received thousands of emails from our readers thanking us on how this can become their reality.

About us:

In 2015, we disposed of 99% of our worldly belongings, packed the remainder into four suitcases and moved to Mexico. Our goal was to leave the rat race behind in the United States and enjoy a laid-back, debt-free Caribbean lifestyle at price we could afford. Our gamble paid off and reality has exceeded our loftiest expectations.
